For Office 2019 and Office 365 versions of Office, or later, you can access the settings from the Office Accessibility Center. For earlier versions of Office, check your language pack documentation or the Language Accessory Packs online for instructions. Troubleshooting tips for this document An image that displays incorrectly or is not displayed is marked with the following icon. Manage language packs Office has several language packs that provide enhanced access to features and content in Microsoft Office 2019 and Office 365. These packs, in addition to the language packs that are shipped with Office, enable you to create a more accessible version of Office. Language packs are stored and updated online so that you can download and install the most current packs. You can use these packs in the following ways: If the feature is not available for your language, you can download and use the language pack that provides the feature, similar to installing other third-party applications. If you are using Office with a small screen size or portable computer, you can also download and use a language pack that is optimized for small screens. Tip: Office 2019 and Office 365 provide a visual interface to manage language packs. To use the visual interface to manage language packs, log in to the Office Online service. To learn more about language packs and to download and install language packs, see How to download and install language packs. If you have used language packs in the past, we recommend that you follow these instructions to download and install the latest language packs. If you don't have a Microsoft account, we also recommend that you sign in to your Office Online account to manage your language packs. Use the Office Accessibility Center To see information about the available language packs and to download and install language packs, in the Office 2019 or Office 365 ribbon, click Office Accessibility Center. To change the language that is used in Office, click Change Language. The Language Accessory Packs section of the Office Accessibility Center displays the language packs that you can download and install. Install a language pack Note: If you want to keep your existing language packs, you should not remove them from Office, but you can remove the language packs that you no longer need. To remove a language pack from Office, in the Language Accessory Packs section of the Office Accessibility Center, click Remove or Remove All, depending on which language packs you want to remove. Select the language pack to download. 82157476af
